Examples of "Healthy Narcissism":

- Strong self-resilience, high self-confidence in line with reality; not grandiose or ego-maniacal.
- Does not desire or need power over others.
- Does not consider themselves as more valuable than others.
- Sincere concern for identifying and helping others who are less fortunate; fortitude and reliability toward helping others.
- Behavior is consistent with values, actions toward all people.
- Focused more on improving individual and team performance; not fixated on comparison to others.
